

2008 National BDPA Entrepreneur Showcase

“Speed Networking” for BDPA Entrepreneurs

Prepared by: Milt Haynes and Boyd Stephens

May 2008

BDPA Entrepreneur Challenges

- BDPA Entrepreneurs come to the National BDPA Conference looking to build relationships that will grow their business
- Angel Investors come to the National BDPA Conference looking for Entrepreneurs with great business ideas
- Supplier Diversity Officers come to the National BDPA Conference looking for Entrepreneurs for their diversity spend
- Most entrepreneurs are not big enough to meet tier 1 vendor requirements for Corporate America nor do they have access to individuals in their “contact sphere” to adequately build good business to business relationships

Critical Skills Focus

“The only way to get ahead and stay ahead in this challenging job market is to constantly distinguish yourself from the competition by demonstrating great performance and maintaining highly marketable skills.”

Milt Haynes

“...and establishing solid core business and personal relationships...”

Boyd Stephens

Our Service

“Speed Networking” for BDPA Entrepreneurs

- Give BDPA Entrepreneurs quality face time with Supplier Diversity Officers
- Provide incentives and a forum to showcase award winning business ideas
- Provide an ongoing forum and venue both during the annual National Technology Conferences as well as in the realm of cyberspace through which fellow BDPA entrepreneurs and business owners can create, grow, and maintain strategic alliances and partnerships

Target Market

Supplier Diversity Officers who want to do business with BDPA Entrepreneurs

BDPA Entrepreneurs who desire to sell products and services to major corporations

Guiding Principles

BDPA Volunteers to Manage the Program

Investigate Business Demand

Provide mentoring to make sure entrepreneurs are well prepared

Use Speed Networking Model

Immediate Feedback

Highly portable and scalable (e.g. to BDPA Chapters)

Plug and Play (K.I.S.S)

Build it and they will come (attracts conference attendance)

All ideas are worth listening to
